

There was a time when there was no up and down and now there is no side to side and it's an art because we don't have to comprehend it to know that there was once a time where there were no sides to sides and there was one up and one down.